

Some Useful Environmental Websites and Links

City of Los Angeles Dept. of Environmental Affairs:

www.lacity.org/ead

City of Los Angeles Dept. of Sanitation

www.lacity.org/san

Million Trees Los Angeles- implements the mayor's initiative to plant one million trees in L.A. LADWP customers can get free trees www.Milliontreesla.org

The Environmental Youth Conference (EYC) is one of the largest green youth events in Los Angeles. The conference will be held at the Los Angeles Convention Center, South Hall on December 13, 2008.

Hosted by the City of Los Angeles, the EYC brings together thousands of young Angelenos ages 12 to 21 to learn about environmental responsibility through eco-consumerism.

Los Angeles Dept of Water and Power

www.Ladwp.org

Sustainable Works-Santa Monica non-profit that provides environmental education. Great classes for residents and non-residents.

www.sustainableworks.org

Algalita Marine Research Foundation- provides k-12 education programs to highlight the huge plastic soup in the ocean and the dangers of plastic www.Algalita.org

Heal the Bay-speakers, activists on protecting Santa Monica Bay, sponsor of Dec. 18 Day without a Bag

www.healthebay.org

Surfrider Foundation

Greenschools.net/resources:
general information

Green fundraisers:

www.wfaa.com/projectgreen/greenarticles/stories/green080715_ph_greenfundraisers.5a408fef.html

How to Go Green-School Teachers:

<http://planetgreen.discovery.com/go-green/school-teachers/>

Junior Duck Stamp Program:

http://www.calwaterfowl.org/duck_stamp/index.htm

Million Trees Los Angeles:

Milliontreesla.org

The Environmental Youth Conference (EYC) is one of the largest green youth events in Los Angeles. The conference will be held at the Los Angeles Convention Center, South Hall on December 13, 2008.

Hosted by the City of Los Angeles, the EYC brings together thousands of young Angelenos ages 12 to 21 to learn about environmental responsibility through eco-consumerism.

Non Toxic School Lunches:

<http://www.enviroblog.org/2008/08/back-to-school-are-we-ready-ar.htm>